

Nevada Experiment Station.

The State Legislature in accepting the National appropriation for an Agricultural Experiment Station, located the Station at the Nevada State University, at Reno. The Station is being thoroughly equipped and is preparing to make a study of some of the many perplexing questions constantly presenting themselves to the farmers, gardeners and herdsmen of Nevada. These investigations will be pursued with a view to the solution of some of the problems, and with a view to the publication of the results, in the hope that the efforts put forth here may be of service in the development of the agricultural resources of our State and the advancement of the agricultural interests.

It is proposed to undertake investigations respecting: (1) The growth of the various farm crops; (2) the growth, treatment and food value of various forage plants and their adaptability to our soil and climate; (3) the best varieties and most satisfactory method of growing garden vegetables; (4) the adaptability and treatment of large and small fruits; (5) the structure, nature and distribution of native and introduced plants; (6) the purity and vitality of seeds; (7) the chemical composition of feeding stuffs, soils, fertilizers and potable waters; (8) the insects of the State and the use of insecticides and insecticide apparatus; (9) the feeding of beef cattle and sheep; (10) forest trees and their care; (11) the diseases of plants and of animals; (12) meteorology and soil temperature.

Any citizen of Nevada who is interested in agriculture in any of its departments, is invited to apply to the Station for any information that he may desire concerning the theory and practice of any branch of agriculture. All such communications will receive due consideration, and as far as possible will be answered promptly.

Citizens of the State are invited to suggest to the Station such lines of investigation as they most desire undertaken. All suggestions of this nature will receive attention at the hands of the Station, and will be acted upon so far as the means at our command will permit.

The Station desires for study and for museum purposes, samples of plants, seeds, farm crops, sections of trees, minerals, soils, abnormally developed plants and animals, etc. For any of these we will be grateful.

All communications, specimens and express packages should be addressed

Wrestler Muldoon is to the front with the statement exonerating John L. Sullivan from the charge of being drunk. It is quite probable that more or less lying is being done about both Kilrain and Sullivan, to influence the odds in the betting; but we still believe Sullivan did get drunk as the first dispatches said. There were some points in them which indicated that they were not altogether bogus. However, we are glad the surly champion is back in the traces again. The question of supremacy between him and Kilrain will be well settled. Then we shall have some peace.—S. F. Report.

All the U. P. Surveying parties have been called in. Owing to the depression in freight and travel all work has been suspended. The Beckwith pass was found to be much higher than was expected and the company will probably find another route. We should try to get the company to build the road through Carson.

Secretary Rusk is bound to be useful. He is preparing a volume treating of the common diseases of horses and cattle, which will be distributed to the farmers of the country this Fall.

One million dollars has been subscribed for the proposed cable between Honolulu and San Francisco. The work of laying the cable will be commenced within eighteen months.
